

Executive biography

Lars Bondo Krogsgaard, Co-CEO, MHI Vestas Offshore Wind

Lars Bondo Krogsgaard, 51, started his career practicing business law in Denmark and the US. He subsequently joined DONG (now Ørsted), where he became Vice President in the renewables business, working on the customer side of large-scale wind energy projects. In 2006, Lars moved to Siemens to become CEO of the company's onshore wind business in the EMEA region. In 2010, he joined German wind turbine manufacturer Nordex's Executive Management Board with responsibility for all customer-facing activities, before becoming the company's CEO in 2015. During Lars' tenure at Nordex the company grew profitably into a global player, doubling market share and tripling revenues. Lars stepped down as CEO of Nordex in March 2017, and has subsequently worked as an independent strategic advisor to companies in the renewable energy industry.

Lars holds triunal law degrees from universities in Denmark, the UK and the US as well as an MBA degree from Copenhagen Business School. He currently resides with his family in Germany.